THE STORE THAT FAILS TO ADVERTISE.

A good show window is a fine thing for a store, but advertising is a show window that displays the goods to many more people.—Brookhaven Leader. And yet there are lots of store keepers who don't believe that advertising pays. It has been our observation that the store failing to advertise in the newspaper is the one that makes no progress.

USELESS TO COMPLAIN NOW.

Well, the last primary election has been held and it is pretty definitely known who has won and who has been defeated for nomination. From start to finish it was a hot and stirring contest for every office from governor down to beat constable, and the people feel relieved that it is all over. It availed no man to complain of or criticize the result in any case. The electorate spoke its will and it is too late to undo what has been done.

FACTIONALISM IS DEAD.

Factionalism is dead in Mississippi, but it is going to take some time to rid the State of the blighting effects which thatism inflicted on our great and beloved commonwealth. To that great task must the new administration turn its best thought and attack it from the first day of its induction to office.

HELPING THE COTTON GROWERS (?)

The Echo has very serious doubts about any great good coming out of all this discussion of ways to help the Southern cotton planter. Where one planter is found who may agree to reduce his acreage devoted to growing the fleecy staple hundreds of others will not agree to any such scheme. And all this talk of passing laws to curtail planting is mere moonshine. So there you are!

A COWARDLY EVASION.

A wet platform is going to be a slippery platform for any party to stand on.—Yazoo Sentinel. From present indications neither the Democrats or the Republicans will stand on one of that kind. Both are scared to take a stand either way, pronounced wet or pronounced dry,—a cowardly evasion discreditable to both great parties.

END OF 1931 CAMPAIGN.

THE political campaign of 1931 was ended last Tuesday but from start to finish we never heard a speech, nor read one, wherein any candidate—from governor down to constable—who proclaimed himself a Democrat. That's funny, isn't it? Maybe some of them didn't want to make any reference to their Democracy.

BILOXI'S BIG PACK.

Biloxi, the largest shrimp canning center in the United States, expects the present season's pack to equal is not surpass that of any previous year. The factories there began operation last week and the fleet of boats engaged in catching the festive crustaceans are bringing in great quantities of that toothsome seafood.

The Mobile Register wants President Hoover to attend the convention of the United States Good Roads Association which is to be held in Birmingham October 12-15, believing that it will give him a close-up view of the problems confronting the association and also acquaint him with those problems of the South demanding attention of the national government.

Our country at the present moment has a surplus of wheat, corn, cotton, oil and other products, more than can be consumed or used in any way for quite a while, and still there are several millions of our citizens who have no employment and they and their dependents half starved and half clothed and bleak winter is only a few short months off. It is a problem for our statesmen to solve and that speedily, too.

About the most foolish and nonsensical scheme suggested for stabilizing cotton prices comes from the national farm board—that of plowing up or not picking every third row of the present crop. But such a suggestion might have been looked for from a government board, some members of which never planted cotton and others who would not know a cotton plant from a stalk of stink weed.

First, we're told that we can regain prosperity by spending money and then we're told that we can do it by not spending money.—Hattiesburg American. As there are so many folks who have no money to spend, and so few folks who do have it and don't spend it, we are just wondering if we will not have a long time to wait for prosperity to come. Of course, Mr. Hoover has said time and again that "prosperity was just around the corner," but we have lost all faith in his prophecy.

COUNTY CONSOLIDATION.

SENTIMENT favoring consolidation of counties for the purpose of eliminating the cost of government is growing rapidly, and it would not be a matter of surprise if it assumed such proportions in the not very distant future that it became an actuality.

When the States of this Union were organized and their areas were divided into counties, for convenience and to afford accessibility to the local seal of government, it was necessary to create many counties. With the coming of modern methods of transportation—by railroads and later the automobile—that necessity no longer exists. But over, above and beyond that, a multiplicity of counties—no longer needed—entails high cost to the people, and only provides a multiplicity of official jobs.

Ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York is a strong advocate of the consolidation of counties, and he cites three counties in his State whose combined populations and areas roughly equal those of an adjoining county. He says:

"The county expenses of the three are more than twice as much as those of the single county unit. In the one large county, the per capita cost of county government was 97 cents. In the three small counties adjoining, 'every citizen had to contribute $1.83 in taxes' for county maintenance."

"Suppose these facts were made apparent in the conduct of a business institution; what would happen? There would be a consolidation of the three named counties for the purpose of removing a large percentage of the overhead expenses of maintenance and operation. Why is it not logical to apply business principles to county governments? . . . Nothing to my mind is more ridiculous than the maintenance in the state of New York of a county with less than 3000 people in it, duplicating all the machinery that is to be found in the county of Kings with 2,500,000 people. Similar conditions are to be found all over the country."

Today there is not a county in any of the forty-eight States of the nation where the people are not complaining about the burden of high taxes which is in most instances caused by waste, extravagance, graft and inefficiency on the part of county officials. And the only way to curb the mounting cost of county government is by consolidation of counties, a fact recognized by every tax-payer who has given the matter any thought.

TOO BAD ABOUT REV. BARTON!

REV. Arthur J. Barton, chairman of the executive committee of the Anti-Saloon League, does not like the endorsement of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a presidential candidate by Southern Democratic political leaders. That's too bad; but it was to be expected, and there will no doubt be other prohibition cranks joining the Rev. Barton in his efforts to thwart the nomination of Governor Roosevelt, the one Democrat who stands the best chance of defeating Herbert Hoover or any other candidate the Republicans may nominate next year.

Like many other prohibition fanatics, Rev. Barton still believes that the defeat of Al Smith in 1928 was due solely to his stand on the liquor question, otherwise he would have received the electoral votes of every State in the Solid South, while it is a recognized fact that his loss of the presidency was due to his religious belief.

In no section of the country has the evil effects of the Eighteenth Amendment been felt and made more apparent than in the South, and if the question of its repeal was put up to the Southern people there is no doubt that it would be wiped from the statute books.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVERS.

HIT-AND-RUN drivers are cowards. . . . No mercy should be shown drivers of this species. Many States and communities of this country have severe penalties for hit-and-run drivers, even ranging to confinement in penitentiaries. These forms of punishment are not out of line with the offense.—Hattiesburg American.

There is hardly a day that passes that we do not read accounts of where death and damage has resulted from accidents caused by hit-and-run motorists, and to our mind there is no penalty or punishment too heavy to inflict on them. The bare fact that they flee from the scene of the accident is sufficient proof that they are guilty. In perhaps a few isolated cases the hit-and-run driver is too scared to stop to see what damage he has done or the injury to the occupant or occupants of the car he has hit but even that is no excuse for running away from the scene.

BISHOP CANNON AGAIN.

Bishop Cannon does not take the developments in Washington affecting his case very seriously since he is on vacation in Europe.—Mobile Register.

It doesn't matter whether he takes it seriously or not, it looks to us that those "developments" are going to prove serious before the committee gets through its investigation. The politico-stock-gambling cleric is going to be put into a very embarrassing position and if he is not ousted from his high church job the Methodist Episcopal Church will not live up to its past record and traditions.

IN JAPAN AT LAST.

Col. Chas. A. Lindburgh and wife are at last in Japan after being forced to "light" five times in their aerial flight. Some way or other we do not approve of America's air hero exposing himself to the dangers of such a trip as he is making. To him more than all others combined interested in development of this country's air service is due most credit and it requires only one little mishap to his plane which might result in disaster. Another thing we do not approve of and that is Mrs. Lindburgh's leaving her baby and accompanying her famous husband.

FOR THE OLD SPANISH TRAIL.

Bids are being asked for by the State Highway Commission for the raising of a fill on the Old Spanish Trail six miles west of this city. A two-mile stretch of the highway is to be raised and the contract will be awarded September 8.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

CHICAGO, Ill., August 25.—Back to Bay St. Louis came the Boy Scouts last week, bearing with them many trophies from Camp Salmen which were bestowed upon their members in token of their excellence in Scoutdom. In the rifle match, reports the Echo, both first and second ribbons were awarded the local boys, J. Peperden, winning first and Chas. Kergosien second. The winner of the second rifle ribbon has also been designated Junior Life Saver, while Jerry Dickson has achieved the honors of the Best Cabin Leader of the camp. Though not so long ago it was that these fine young men first began their scout work, F. Ferchaud, Terry Ansley and Jerry Dickson were presented the camp's Court of Honor, Second Class Scouts. The Echo and all Bay St. Louis, is justly proud of the accomplishments of the Bay Scouts. Still if they had never won a single honor, a look at their clear, bronzed faces would tell that their trip had been of untold value to them and to the community in which they will live as future citizens.

Needless to state that all of us who read the Echo in distant cities expect to soon read that the appeal made by Father Gmelch for the funds with which to pay off the indebtedness on the magnificent church building which has been reared in Bay St. Louis, will be headed. As the Echo states, it will be a pleasure for the communicants of Our Lady of the Gulf to do everything in their power toward providing their parish with a house of worship that is entirely free from debt.

And too, we know that the need of the King's Daughters Emergency Hospital will be recognized and met. Perhaps there have been many residents of the town who have not been aware of the strain being put upon this charitable and very useful institution. When they consider the noble work it has performed in caring for the sick, and then realize that for an entire month its cash receipts have been but $14.50 they will act immediately to relieve the situation in which the hospital finds itself.

And one of the reasons that I feel both the houses of worship and the house of healing will be built with generosity, is because Bay St. Louis is known to be made up of public spirited men and women, one of whom revealed himself quite plainly in last week's paper. So intent is W. A. McDonald upon the success of the "Know Mississippi Better" train for 1931, that he advertises the fact of his being willing to loan the cost of the trip to those wishing to take part in the missionary work in the interest of Mississippi.

Quaint indeed was the old French saying quoted by Chas. G. Moreau in his speech before the joint Rotary meeting held in Pass Christian Thursday night. But how applicable that saying was! "Where grass is permitted to grow over the pathway between the homes of two friends, soon both the pathway and the friendship are no more." As Bay St. Louis Rotary expressed itself through the words of President Moreau, its neighbor organization across the Bay must have been more assured than ever that it is not the intention of Bay St. Louis folks to allow grass to cover the pathway between the two cities. And that the friendships now existing shall last as long as the two towns stand! That indeed will be a beautiful "Tale of Two Cities."

"Business as usual!" Such was the report of the Peoples Building & Loan Association when its directors spread its progress before the stock holders at their last meeting. And to make that report the more emphatic, the directors announced that the business of the institution had been such that the regular dividend would be paid on September 1st. That report spread the volumes for the careful management of the building and loan association and for the stability of the community in which it operates.

During the many years she lived in New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, Mrs. Louise Borzone Piccaluga gained in wisdom and usefulness to the human family. Younger folks, recognizing her attributes, must have gathered about her often, to listen to her highly valued words. And she told them of days now long past when the history of an earlier Coast Country was in the making. And her listeners were wont to contrast the modes of life in the time with the standards of the present. Now the material life of this sainted woman has passed to its final rest. But her soul lives on, to enjoy the fruits of her days upon this earth. And the imprint she made upon the community in which she lived will never be effaced, nor will her contribution to local history ever be forgotten.

LOCAL SIDELIGHTS.

A TERM TO CONJURE WITH NEGLECTED.

THE Old Spanish Trail with its historical interest and romantic lure, passes through Bay St. Louis and this section for a considerable distance and it is more than passing strange, says a friend, how little our people have capitalized on this phase of a fact that other sections would immediately have taken advantage of.

BUILDING OF PUBLIC HAS ITS LESSON AND VALUE.

PROGRESSIVE residents of Clermont Harbor have come to the sense of realization that no greater asset to the continued popularity and substantial growth of that section of the coast could be possible than the building of a public pier, to ultimately extend its long way out to a thousand feet line into the briny waters of the sound. It strikes us Bay St. Louis is possibly just as in need of such improvement. Many of our best and far-seeing residents have long recognized the need and value of a municipally-owned pier and the surprising part of the subject is such project has not long ere this become a reality.

WHAT IT DID FOR ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.

It was the building of a modest-looking, city-owned pier, that brought St. Petersburg, Fla., to the success which has marked that place. Only twenty years ago St. Petersburg was a mere village, where a paucity of winter tourists and visitors basked in the winter sun. The pier was the outstanding attraction. Later it was enlarged then finally the city issued a bond issue and a concrete pier with glass covered pavilion and rooms at the end and on the sides were constructed. From that time the success of St. Petersburg was assured. Bay St. Louis might profit by this.

WHEN VISITORS FIRST ARRIVE IN BAY ST. LOUIS.

Visitors arriving in Bay St. Louis and alighting from the L. & N. trains receive a lasting impression of the place since first impressions are the lasting ones. From time to time the L. & N. Gardens around its depot premises in this city have been the subject of most favorable comment, serving as well as a "place of beauty," if not a "thing of joy," to the city.

BEAUTY THAT MAKES LASTING IMPRESSION.

Besides one other place on the coast, the railroad runs a most attractive line through the Bay St. Louis depot premises and immediately adjacent to the building gardens that show care and attention. Travelers though Niles, Michigan, never fail to receive a lasting impression of that place, and the natural urge is to get out and visit such a place as the depot park and garden indicate such a place to be. A traveler through never forgets Niles. Its park and gardens are unforgettable. The beauty is compelling. One never fails to ask, "What is the car window. What place is this?" Thus the value of attention and beauty, and it might not only be fitting to public places but the attention might be carried on to the individual home. A front yard is a good indication of who lives there. The back yard condition more so.

BAY ST. LOUIS SUSCEPTIBLE. TO JUST WHAT WE MAKE IT.

Bay St. Louis is always going to be just what we make it. A delightful place to live in; to attract visitors and tourists and thus help our own population to increase and expand our spending and buying power. We have gone through a siege of politics that has been to many pretty expensive and to many brought nothing. Constructive endeavors, to build, to attract outsiders, to strive for a greater Chamber of Commerce by increased membership, to make the votaries of all our civic and other clubs more active and augmenting their doings is the thing to be "devoutly wished for."

The average adult of today will remember his geography the city of Los Angeles, Calif., was listed with a population of 20,000, and this was at its best. Prior to that it was nothing but a village of some adobe houses, in addition to the missions and other more substantial buildings. Factories, smokestacks and other things people talk of when thinking of building their respective communities were not to be had at a place so far isolated and away from the center of all things. Los Angeles on the very extreme edge of the western section of the country with no juxtaposition to any center was out in the cold like the proverbial step-child.

No appreciable improvements were noted until Nature's gifts to that section, no better than that of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, had been improved and elaborated. Nature had provided for much. Man did his share. He proceeded to beautify, to enhance, and thus to attract. Soon thousands journeyed to the sand regions of southern California, chambers of

New Orleans Scene

Of Heavy Liquor Raid

Not a drum was heard, but the less a fort was stormed here on Sunday, old Spanish Fort on the Poydras River, New Orleans, Louisiana, was raided by city and prohibition agents to capture a still.

When the besiegers entered the small, dark built on the fort and surrounded by ancient mounds, besieged and decimated. But were the spoils of war, 40 gallons of rum, seven cases of home brew and 20 gallons of whiskey.

REBUKING BILBO

The voters of Mississippi, in a most mistaken manner, gave Governor Theodore Bilbo a well-deserved spanking in the election recently, and will most likely bring an end to Bilboism in Mississippi. People are becoming disgusted with the demagogic politicians more and more each year and if they had not, there is no telling how far in debt they would have run the commonwealth. Mississippi has been in a state of retrogression for the past four years, all due to the methods of Governor Bilbo. And Mississippi is not the only state in the Union that is in the same condition.

IMPERATIVE THAT WE SELL THIS SECTION TO OUTSIDERS.

We should make it our business to sell Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Gulf Coast to the outsider. The depression has not affected in the least that this section is a better place to live in. Families with children find no place more healthful, better school facilities and living conditions are ideal. And to be more prosaic, if not more practical, it is cheaper in the matter of food values to live on the Gulf Coast than elsewhere. Ever notice the friendly, general social atmosphere of the people of the Gulf Coast? This is markedly perceptible in Bay St. Louis. The general attitude of the individual is that of friendliness. No factions, no clans, no pent in untoward feelings. It is a great place to live in. And a better place to live in is the one ambition, the goal of every man. Even after he has accumulated his money, made his pile, as they say in the vernacular, he seeks as his final ambition—a better place to live in. We have found it—it is here. Possibly more next week.

C. B. MOLLERE IS GIVEN SPECIAL RECOGNITION AT MEETING

I. G. A. Representatives Of Seven States at Biloxi Last Week Hold Convention

Biloxi, the convention city, entertained the delegates of the I. G. A. Stores, independent grocery chain, from seven States last week, presided over by President Frank J. Grimes, president of the Independent Grocers Alliance. It was one of the biggest and most interesting group of business men to assemble there.

A feature of the meeting was the presentation of $500 by the convention to Mayor John Kennedy to be applied to funds raised in the recent Chamber of Commerce drive of that city. In addition to an intense business series of meetings, an elaborate program of entertainment was presented each day.

Mollere Scores in Cash. Charles B. Mollere, proprietor of the I. G. A. Store, at Waveland, scored heavily in sales report. A contest had been in progress between the stores of this section of the South in the matter of selling most goods, doing the biggest volume of business.

The result was that Mr. Mollere practically outdid all competitors. He captured a series of cash prizes that aggregated to nearly $150.00. One prize alone was for $50.00. His success in business proved how far a man's individual success will serve and that it will serve as an inspiration to others.

Ideal Status. Smith—Rotten game I'm playing this season. How is yours?
Smart—Exactly right. If it were any better I'd give up business, and if it were any worse I'd give up golf.

SECOND ANNUAL TARPON RODEO ENDS IN BILOXI WATERS

Philip Levine of Biloxi and Bay St. Louis Wins "Destructive Fish Prize."

With seven out of approximately 35 anglers competing in the Biloxi Perpetual Game Fish Association's tournament receiving appropriate and useful prizes, the second annual three-day rodeo was successfully closed Sunday night at a banquet in the Hotel Riviera with King Fish S. P. Edmonds acting as toastmaster.

Dr. G. E. Simmons, Pass Christian summer resident from New Orleans, a veteran Gulf spotsman, took first prize with a 70-pound tarpon the only Silver King brought to gaff in the three days of fishing.

Dr. Simmons hooked the prize catch at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at tarpon hole near Cat Island and had the Silver King whipped in 40 minutes of fighting. He was awarded a $600 Pfleuger reel, donated by the Enterprise Manufacturing Company of Akron, Ohio.

Cash Prize For Largest Catch.

His yacht the Sunshine won the $20 cash prize for bringing in the largest catch of various species of the finny tribe, but when Gold Fish Walter E. White started to make the presentation Dr. Simmons donated the cash award to the association.

King Fish Edmonds suggested that the money would be used to purchase a perpetual championship trophy to go to the winner of the annual rodeos.

Lady Wins Prize.

Mrs. R. S. Berkeley of New Orleans took second prize. She appropriately caught a lady fish, commonly likened to a little tarpon.

Third prize, a rod and line, went to Edward Britus of Edgewater Gulf. His catch was a 21-pound Red Fish. He also gaffed a 49-pound gar. R. S. Berkeley of New Orleans caught a 35-pound jackfish for fourth prize and brought home a 55-pound gar and a shark.

Philip Levine Scores.

The destructive fish prize again went to Philip Levine, Biloxi merchant, who won this honor last year. Angler Levine captured the prize with a 6 and a half foot shark weighing 101 pounds.

O. W. Chancellor of New Orleans and W. F. Thierman of Jackson were the other prize winners.

Al Wambagans, winner of first prize last year, and Walter E. White, who both caught tarpon in the 1930 rodeo were unable to land the prize catch last week-end. Many strikes were reported in the three days of fishing but only Dr. Simmons was able to bring home the bacon. Arsene Bourdon and Ben D. Wilder veteran tarpon anglers, who did their fishing in Biloxi channel, had several strikes but that was all.

The large array of appropriate and useful prizes were secured by King Fish Edmonds and the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce for donation from large manufacturing concerns of the country. Anthony V. Ragusin and Lewis Wetzel of the C. of C. helped the King Fish in making the awards.

CURRENT COMMENT

The Farm Board suggests the destruction of one-third of the growing cotton crop, as a means for stabilizing prices. There was a time when a good crop of anything meant prosperity. Now a short crop means prosperity. Once an agency that waded out a third of any crop would have been considered a curse. At present it would be a blessing. Times have changed, and we are living in the midst of a complex civilization, the workings of which no one seems to understand fully. Explorers in Greenland find that the ice there is eight thousand feet deep. If the Greenlanders had to treat their best crop as suggested by the Farm Board, they would have something to do.

A quadruple murder in Michigan has given impetus to the movement for the restoration of the death penalty in that State. The prisoners were captured and tried in a single day. It appears that Michigan can set an example in the way of speedy execution of justice. The sight of three men paying the penalty for their crime, within twenty-four hours from the time they were taken, will be longer remembered than the execution of the same men after the lapse of so long a period that the crime is forgotten. If Michigan has a law against murder that can be enforced with the quickness of the thunder bolt, so great a step in advance has been made that there is little room to quarrel about the complete adequacy of the penalty exacted.

A bird with thumbs on its wings is reported by a scientific expedition in Africa. In pre-Volstead days, incautious imitators in the United States claimed to have seen brindle elephants with green horns, and the like, but prohibition has forced us to give Africa first place as a land of wonders.

The latest Scotch joke, and an unintentional one, is found in the cablegram which states that the sport of shooting grouse, at the cost of about $10.00 per bird, has just opened in the Highlands.

A Harvard authority pronounces in favor of a general increase in inheritance taxes. Of all forms of taxation, the inheritance tax is least popular and most difficult to enforce. The right of the boy to receive the old homestead from the father is firmly implanted in the human breast, and so far as enforcement is concerned, the law can be defeated easily by a pre-mortem gift, in which event the monopoly of an accumulated fortune will remain unbroken, and the revenue to the state be defeated. Advocates of the inheritance tax never have been able to lay a basis for it in logic or justice, or to point out a way in which it can be made universally and evenly effective.

Deaths from automobile accidents in the United States average 84 per day. The question arises whether these lives were worth saving, or if a death list of such proportions must be accepted as a necessary consequence of an unavoidable condition. If it is admitted that fatalities must be cut down, there is a sure and certain way of accomplishing that result. Signals and brakes are like antidotes for a man who already has taken poison. In the absence of a material reduction in speed limits, no relief is in sight.

CLERMONT TO BUILD PIER

Improvement Association
Held Meeting Saturday
Night and Decided on Improvement.

There was quite an interesting and constructive meeting held Saturday night at the residence of members of the Clermont Harbor Improvement, at the residence of Joseph Chelona, on the beach front. Clermont Harbor has had the biggest summer season it has known in years. Its popularity as a summer resort has attained that height that its future is established and it becomes necessary to provide for such improvements as the summer visitor patronage calls for.

Of these proposed improvements none is more outstanding in the way of immediate need than a public pier, such as is built at all progressive and popular watering resorts. The meeting Saturday night resolved that at once sufficient funds would be raised to at least begin financing the plan for a $1500 public pier. Several major cash contributions were pledged at the meeting and it was also planned to give a benefit Saturday night, September 5 at the Harbor Inn Pavilion.

For this benefit already extensive preparations are in progress and the affair will result in realizing considerable cash. Officers of the Clermont Harbor Improvement Association are: C. F. Jenkins, president; Joseph C. Chelona, vice-president; Edward Nathan, secretary-treasurer. Practically every property owner in Clermont is a member of the association. Other improvements are in contemplation, but this one in particular is of immediate interest. It will benefit the entire western section of the Coast.

Catholic Church at DeLisle Presented
With Chandeliers

Catholic church at DeLisle, located at the head of Bay St. Louis, and of which Rev. R. J. Sorin is the beloved pastor, received a gift of a few days ago that will prove both useful and ornamental as well. Mr. August Zohlen, of Sheboygan, Wis., as the donor, the gift made through the instrumentality of Rt. Rev. R. O. Gerow, Bishop of Natchez. Simon S. Ilier, local electrician of that vicinity, installed the handsome new fixtures, which, when lighted, harmonizes and adds advantageously to the beauty of the interior of the little church over the bay in the pines. Father Sorin expresses deep appreciation of the gift and satisfaction beyond words, as he expresses it.

ers of Communism, calls them "snake doctors." Such terms as "propagandist," "syndicate" and the like, slip trippingly from the tongue, and do not always mean much to the hearer; but if a "snake doctor" is said to be about, anyone can take warning that mischief is brewing.

The most important development in the rebellion in Cuba up to date is the unofficial announcement that it is the policy of the United States not to interfere in the internal affairs of Latin-American countries. Latin America is a sort of political Yellowstone Park, the geysers of which are likely to spout almost any time, and trying to stop them seems as futile as attempting to regulate the course of Nature.

WAVELAND BASEBALL TEAM ENTERTAINED AT SUPPER BY PRESIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Usher Mark Closing of Season With Banquet—Manager Norton Haas, of The Sentinels, Gives Toast of Evening.

The Waveland Sentinels closed the baseball season with a supper.

The supper was given by their President and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Usher. Everyone bowed their heads as Mr. Usher said a prayer of thanks. Their manager, Mr. Norton Haas also made a toast after the supper was served. After the supper each one made a talk on how glad they were to be with the Waveland team and how they all wished to be with the same crowd next season.

Waveland has as its baseball players all real gentlemen and real good sports. Now and then a little misunderstanding may occur, but is very quickly remedied.

The ball players and those connected with the team who attended the supper were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Usher and family. Mr. Usher as president of the Waveland team is one of the best to be found. Good to his players and always tries to satisfy each and everyone.

Mr. Haas manager, is a very good manager, never gets cross as some managers do and always looks for the good of his team.

Mr. C. Schwartz and family. Mr. Schwartz, Secretary and Treasurer, has been a wonderful officer and all happenings of each and everything in their club, has been kept on record and as the league closes Mr. Schwartz's records show they are in a very good standing. Mr. Schwartz hopes to be with the boys again next year.

Daniel Fayard, catcher, who has been with this club four years also hopes to be with us again. Daniel is not only a catcher, but assistant manager.

Mr. Fred Bourgeois has been a very good conscientious captain and short stop. He hopes to pull again with his fellow companions next season.

Sidney Bourgeois as Waveland's wonderful center fielder, has only two errors to his credit for one year, also wish to be with the boys next year.

Slick Ball, and wife, that are right fielder that never misses also spoke of his appreciation of being with that good old Waveland team.

Bob Condon. Just hear that name. That good old pitcher that Waveland has also spoke of his appreciation of being with that good old Waveland team and hopes to be along again next season.

Mule Haas, first baseman, who was unable to attend the supper but spoke with his comrades and hopes to be among them next season.

T. J. Bourgeois, second baseman, one of Waveland's real good hitters made a very good talk and hopes to hop along with all the boys next season.

D. V. Peilol, another of Waveland's good pitchers, also wishes to be with the boys next season.

Harold Bourgeois, that ace home runner and third baseman hopes to be with his same old boys next season.

Jack Ladner and wife, another of Waveland's good hitters spoke of how he enjoyed playing with the Waveland club and hoped to be with the same old club next season.

W. Roger, Waveland's good old left fielder, that never misses when they go out to him also wishes to be with that good old Waveland team.

August Usher, who has been with the boys and is trying his mitt out to be a real good pitcher, wishes to be along with the boys next season. Chester Bourgeois, who was unable to attend the supper, but as all the rest wished to be along next season with that good old Waveland team.

Glover another of Waveland's good catchers also wishes to be among them next season.

Mr. Grogan the umpire, who has been a very good umpire and tries his best to give a real good and fair deal, hopes to be with the Waveland boys again.

The following were guests at the supper:

Mr. and Mrs. D. Ladner and family, Mrs. Radovich and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Vogt and family of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. C. Vogt and family of New Orleans; Postmaster of Waveland, Herbert Laudin, Ben Bourgeois, Arthur Bourgeois, Al D. Fayard, Nos Cuevas, Mr. H. Schwartz and family, Mr. John Miller. Waveland will play at Picayune and one or more games on home grounds.

A REPORT OF TWO WEEKS SPENT IN BOY SCOUT CAMP

Scout Scribe E. F. Ferchaud Describes the Activities of Camp Salmen, Slidell

Waveland, Miss., Aug. 21, 1931.

Report on the two weeks spent by 20 boys from troop 208 from Bay St. Louis at Camp Salmen from August 3rd to the 15th.

On August 3rd, we left Bay St. Louis at about 6 A. M. in five carloads loaned by some of the mothers of the Scouts, and after a trip of about one and one half hours we arrived at camp. This was the big moment that we all looked forward to. We were assigned to our cabins. The cabins were: SHAUL, NAKNI, HANAN, and the first duty we had to perform was a very pleasant one, as we were told to get into our bathing suits for our first swim. We were each given a tag, which was called the dog tag. This tag has to be hung up with your buddy's before going swimming, and taken off after the swim. Two boys have to swim together, so that if any boy should be in any trouble while in swimming, his buddy will report it at once.

Our daily duties were as follows: Arise at 6 A. M., we then played a game, after which we took a swim for ten minutes. We then got ready for breakfast which was at about 7 A. M. After breakfast we had to clean up our cabins for inspection. When this was over, there was a test period which lasted until about 11 A. M. It was then time for our second swim. After this swim came dinner which was well appreciated after a good swim. After dinner was the rest period. We could either go to our cabins for resting, or go boating, but before a boy is allowed to go into a boat, he has to pass the swimming test, which consist of swimming one hundred and twenty yards. After the rest period there was a cabin leaders meeting, after which there was morale period, in which we sang songs. Each day a cabin was given a different craft, giving each cabin a chance to try every one. By this time it was again ready for us to take our third swim, after which came the good old call for supper. Following supper we had games, which were followed by another boating period, then came the time for camp fire. 9:30 P. M. found the camps dark, and a bunch of tired boys sleeping. Getting ready for the next day.

The second week was slightly different from the first in routine. Instead of the evening routine, there were contests between the cabins such as swimming, boating, track, tennis, ping-pong, archery and boxing contests.

One of the cabins won the honor trip upon the "Lou" to Lake Pontchartrain for having the highest number of points from inspection and the contests. Most of the boys from Bay St. Louis studied to try and secure a cabin with a class badge, so that they were busy most of the time. With the exception of one boy breaking his arm, and a few other boys having a little temperature, the boys as a whole were O. K. We were all together on Saturday August 15th to come home, all saying that we enjoyed our two weeks, but all glad to come home.

UNHEALTHY FAT

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep, but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too."

To take off fat—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—Get it at any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the easiest, surest and safest way to lose fat your money gladly returned.

Another Election In Hancock County Passes Into History

By JOHN T. MEYERS
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

The time—Wednesday morning, the day following a glamorous and spirited Second Democratic primary election night in Bay St. Louis. . . . the place—the stolid corridors of the courthouse.

Like the hushed lull following a raging hurricane, so are these hallways today drastically contrasted to the hum and buzz of the eager voters and candidates who swarmed in great numbers in and out of the courthouse until an early hour of the morning.

Today, only a meager handful of visitors of nonchalant, one cannot but admire the courage and display of a prisoner cell, as they stand in little groups about the dim hallway, discussing election results.

Here and there one observes an ardent follower offering sympathy to a defeated candidate of his choice. Across the hallway, an unsuccessful candidate presents his congratulations to his victor, and wishes him the best of luck. And although there is a brave smile upon his lips, and the tone of his voice is marked by a display of nonchalance, one cannot but admire the courage and display of a prisoner cell, as they stand in little groups about the dim hallway, discussing election results.

On Tuesday night, a motor truck equipped with radio and loud speaker, entertained the crowds with popular music between election returns that kept the crowd in eager anticipation, as the fate of their favorite candidates rocked back and forth on the unsteady scales of public choice.

During the small hours of Wednesday morning, several impromptu parades were conducted by throngs of admirers when it became evident that the man of their choice had been elected. And although Tuesday's election was alive with public interest and spirit, the large crowds seemed at all times orderly and well-mannered.

And so has passed into the volumes of Bay St. Louis history another election. The people have utilized their power of voice and have selected the officials who will serve in public office for the next four years. Time alone must prove the merits and accomplishments of the person in public office. The eyes of the public and defeated candidates are focused upon the newly-elected—the task is now entrusted into their hands.

THE ECHO'S
COOKING CLASS

Cheese is an extremely healthful food which accounts for its increasing popularity. Cheese has been called the "wasteful meat food" because compared to other meat foods it has a negligible quantity of waste such as bone, gristle and skin. There are many delicious substitute dishes made with cheese—it is versatile, can be used in many ways either alone or in combination with other foods. The grocer has for his customers a variety of flavors.

Cheese and Spinach Timbales
2 cups cooked spinach,
1/2 teaspoon salt,
3 eggs,
Few grains pepper,
2-3 cup milk,
2 tablespoons butter,
1/2 lb. American cheese, rubbed through grater.

Chop spinach very fine. Beat egg yolks and milk, melted butter, cheese seasoning and stir while heating. Mix one-half cup milk and cheese with the spinach and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill buttered timbale molds with mixture and place in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Turn out in a hot plate, garnish with slices of hard boiled egg and pour balance of cheese sauce around the timbales.

Pimento Cheese Roast
2 cups cooked lima beans,
1/2 lb. pimento cheese rubbed thru grater,
3 cups bread crumbs,
2 cans pimentos,
Butter,
Seasonings to taste.

Drain liquid from beans and run through a meat chopper, mix with cheese and add to the cheese mixture. Add seasonings, eggs slightly beaten and enough bread crumbs to make mixture stiff enough to shape into a roll. Roll in bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until brown, basting with melted butter and water. Serve very hot with tomato sauce.

Mexican Rarebit
1-4 lb. American cheese rubbed through grater,
2 cups stewed tomatoes,
1 cup milk,
1 tablespoon finely chopped onions,
2 eggs,
2 tablespoons finely chopped pepper,
2 tablespoons butter 1/2 tablespoon salt,
2 tablespoons flour.

Melt butter and add chopped pepper and onions; cook 5 minutes at low temperature. Add flour, mix thoroughly then add 1 cup of milk. Cook 1 minute. Add cheese, stir until melted. Add tomato, also beaten yolks and seasoning. Fold in stiffly beaten whites and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve on square of toast.

Open Sandwiches
Arrange thin slices of cheese on rather thick slices of bread. Place a layer of flaked tuna fish on top of cheese. Lay a thick slice of tomato on fish and sprinkle with salt, pepper and curry powder. Place a slice of bacon on top of tomato. Broil until bacon is crisp. Serve hot.

Mrs. Murchwood—By the time I am ready to leave a man he's already bankrupt.

GULFSIDE SONG FEST AUGUST 30

Citizen Sells Out Business of Many Years

The sale of Youngman's Novelty Shop in 13th street, at Gulfport, to Miss Leola Miles was announced during the week by the Gulfport Herald. Mr. E. J. Youngman, known to many Bay St. Louisans and other Coast residents, proprietor of the shop.

The Herald says Mr. Youngman has been in business in Gulfport continuously for the past thirty-six years, first engaging in the grocery business and later establishing his novelty store which he has operated for some twenty-five years. Before deciding to enter business, Mr. Youngman was in the service of the Louisville and Nashville railroad as station agent and telegraph operator. He began his service with the road while O. M. Dunn was superintendent of the coast division and continued under the superintendency of the late Charles Marshall. He was sent to Gulfport before the incorporation of the town when it numbered 200 or 300 people, and upon the building of the Gulf and Ship Island railroad he made joint agent for the two roads. When the development began which was destined to bring Gulfport to its present proportions, Mr. Youngman believed the time propitious to enter business and resigned his position.

In addition to his store activities he served for fifteen years as correspondent of the Times-Democrat and for ten years as the correspondent of the Commercial Appeal. He also served four years as secretary of the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce. He took a keen interest in the growth of Gulfport and became an ardent booster of every measure which was proposed for its development. He left for Biloxi this morning after casting his ballot in Tuesday's primary and plans a three months' rest. Miss Miles, purchaser of the novelty shop, has served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for several years, and prior to her connection with that organization was secretary of the Mississippi Coast Club.

Don't Miss England is single propelled while Wood's boats have two propellers which make them easier on the turns. The English boat develops 2,000 horse power while Wood's boats rate 1060 horse power each. Incidentally, the English boat is the fastest that ever cut the water and that country has the record holding.

When Robert Moses Grove beat the White Sox last week he registered his twenty-fifth victory of the year, against only two defeats, and became the third pitcher in the American league to win sixteen games in a row. Back in 1912, Walter Johnson and "Smokey Joe" Wood came through with this feat, the one hurling for Washington and the other for Boston. The National League record is nineteen straight games, held by Rube Marquard and Tom Keefe.

Grove is almost certain to surpass the league record and stands an excellent chance of establishing the all time record winning percentage. As this is written he has the surprising figure of .926 and is temporarily ahead of the record in the possession of Wood, who won 35 and lost 5 in 1912 for amark of .872. The only times that Grove has lost this season was when Washington beat him in the first week of play and the White Sox trimmed him on June fifth, when he went in as a relief hurler and was beaten in the twelfth inning.

Leading the Way DOWNWARD

The general cost of living is slow in returning to pre-war levels. From 1914 to 1920 the cost of the necessities of life more than doubled in price. In 1931, eleven years later, living costs are still only half way back to their starting point. Economists tell us we may never live as cheaply as before the war.

Compare this performance with the average cost of domestic electric service in the United States, which has never gone above its 1914 level. Since the beginning of the war the trend of electric rates has been downward. Electricity for household use can now be purchased for an average of two-thirds of its cost before the war.

In communities served by Mississippi Power Company the average cost of domestic electric service is only about one-half what it was when the Company began operations in 1925. During the same period the general cost of living dropped only 12 per cent.

Only during the last two years has a definite downward trend been established in the cost of living, but the cost of household electricity has been steadily declining in Mississippi since 1925. The cost of electric light and power has never followed the trend of living costs—it has always led the way—downward.

The New York Giants, in buying Leonard Koenecke, slugger out of the Indianapolis for $75,000 got the surprise of the season when President Norman A. Perry refused to take cash for his star and insisted on the delivery of players equivalent in value to that price.

While $75,000 is a lot of money Perry, who owns the American Association Club, is a millionaire who dabbles in baseball as a sport and is more interested in building up a team than in getting the cash. Even now he is building a new park to cost $350,000 and is extremely anxious to have a pennant winning team in 1932.

Incidentally, Koenecke is the sixth American Association player to be bought by the big leagues this year. Billy Herman, of Louisville, second baseman, went to the Cubs for about $50,000. Jack Saltzgaver, second sacker and John Murphy, pitcher, of St. Paul, went to the Yankees for $50,000. George Davis, of St. Paul, outfielder, brought $30,000 from the Phillies and Cleveland gave Toledo $20,000 for pitcher Connolly.

In fact, the run-away races of the Athletics and Cardinals have caused the other first division outfits to shake the dust for new material in an effort to get abreast of the 1931 pennant winners before next year opens. The New York Yankees are counting on a star in Frank Crosetti, San Francisco short stop, who will be delivered next year.

Baseball interest in the big leagues is beginning to revolve around the chances of Gabby Street's Cardinals to stop Connie Mack's Athletics in the world's series. While the Philadelphia team has a longer lead than the St. Louis outfit the manner in which the Cardinals have played their eastern invasion indicates that it is about too late for anybody to stop them. Of course, the mathematical chance exists but that is about all unless the Card pitchers start breaking legs.

Lou Gehrig finished his thousandth consecutive game last week. Since the beginning of 1926 he has not missed a game. Gehrig is trailing the record of Everett Scott, who played 1307 games for the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees before missing a contest in 1925.

Kaye Don, holder of the world's speed boat record, 110 miles an hour, has arrived in this country to contest with Gar Wood for the Hammersworth trophy. Three races of thirty miles each will be staged on the Detroit River on the fifth, seventh and eighth of September. Wood will have three Miss Americas to give the smiling Englishman plenty of competition.

APPROACHING MARRIAGE AT NEW ORLEANS ANNOUNCED.

The approaching marriage is announced of Miss Claire Dassel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dassel, of New Orleans to Mr. Bert Sigerson, former and well-known resident of Bay St. Louis. The happy event will take place Thursday, September 3, at the Church of Water Dolores, New Orleans. This will prove of interest to the many friends of Mrs. W. A. Sigerson and her son, the groom-elect, of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

POPULAR COUPLE OF THIS CITY PLEASANTLY SURPRISE FRIENDS.

Miss Stella Gex, popular and accomplished young lady and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gex, and Mr. Ellis Burke, son of a prominent family at the Kilt, this county, were married in New Orleans Friday afternoon.

It was quite a pleasant surprise to the friends of the young couple and the gladness news soon spread and good wishes and congratulations followed.

The groom is an attaché of the New Orleans Public Utilities company. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will go to housekeeping in a most attractive apartment in Canal street.

BAY ST. LOUIS YOUNG LADY MARRIES AT PITTSBURG, PA.

Announcements received in this city carry the news that Miss Irene von Droszkowsky, originally of Bay St. Louis and later of St. Augustine, Fla., and Mr. V. Philip Shephardson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., were married in that city on Wednesday, August 19, and will reside in Pittsburgh, where they will be "at home" on and after September 1.

Mr. Shephardson is a member of a prominent family of his city and is well connected in business circles, and the bride is well remembered locally as a charming and accomplished young lady, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Brown.

—Mrs. Roland Webb and young son, Horton Webb, have been visiting under the parental roof of Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Horton, spending part of the late summer with Bay St. Louis friends.

—Young Miss Helene Kergosien, has gone to Mobile, Ala., where she is visiting at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Kergosien, before resuming her studies at school.

—Mrs. Joseph Robert and family, who have been occupying one of Miss Della McConnell's cottages on the South Beach Boulevard, leave today for New Orleans, after spending a most delightful season on the Coast.

Miss Blaize is widely known and her improvement will be noted with interest.

—St. Margaret's Home, well-known recreational home for children and adults from New Orleans who otherwise would not know the pleasure of a brief respite from the arduous exigencies of city life in summer, closed for the season on Thursday of this week, after entertaining in two-week periods hundreds of children and tired and worn mothers. Mrs. Jos. J. Ritayik, well-known women's work leader at New Orleans, had the general supervision of the home and much of the success of the season is due to her able and constant attention. St. Margaret's Home at Bay St. Louis is sustained by New Orleans charities, under auspices of the Catholic church. The Home was formerly the homestead of the late Mayor E. E. O'Brien.

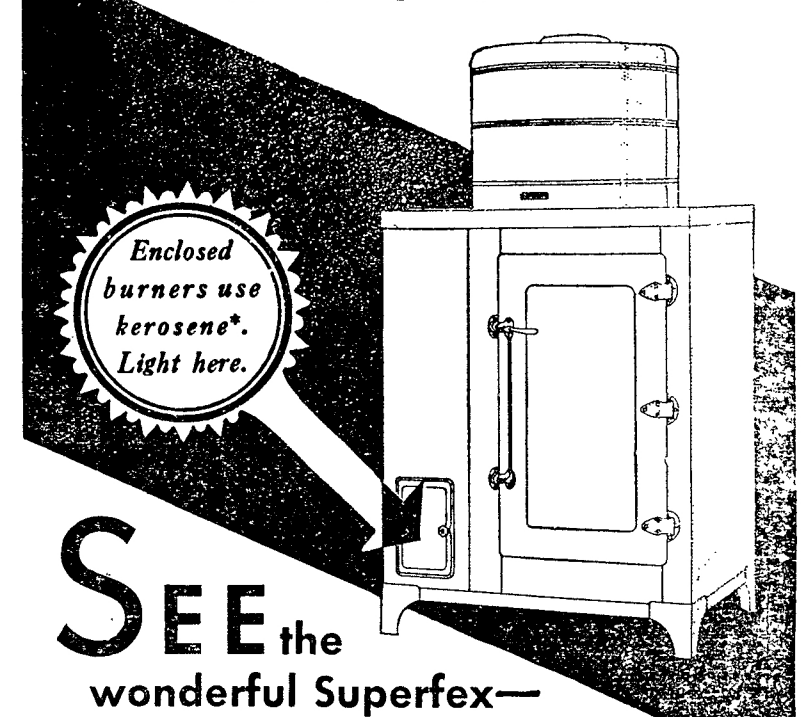

—Clermont Harbor, Bay-Waveland's neighbor to the New Orleans side, is entertaining perhaps this summer the largest number of visitors in its history. Clermont's proximity to New Orleans, is commending position of the broad expanse of the gulf waters, are advantages not to be lost sight of. It is noted new homes dot the "harbor" here and there and real estate values as a result of the popularity of the place are by no means sluggish. It is noted with interest that the Clermont Harbor Improvement Association is active and promises not only to put the place on the map, so to speak, but to keep it there. Clermont was named after Clermont, France, the birthplace of the late F. C. Bordages, originator of Clermont City, which later was changed to Clermont Harbor, a more appropriate name. Mr. Joseph Chalona and others are successfully fostering the success of this delightful winter and summer resort.

ORPHANS SPEND DAY IN BAY CITY

Six Hundred Orphaned Boys and Girls in Bay St. Louis Sunday For Outing.

Bay St. Louis was blessed Sunday last by the visit from New Orleans of six hundred orphans, representing different asylums of that city, selected regardless of creeds.

This trip from the big city to Bay St. Louis was planned, financed and executed by the Knights of Columbus organization of that city, assisted by sisters in religion and other noble men and women.

The orphans, boys and girls, arrived on a special train, landed on the premises of W. J. Gex, near the beach road crossing and at once proceeded to the premises of St. Stanislaus College, where the day was spent and enjoyed superbly and only as so many orphans from a big city could to the seashore.

It was quite an impressive sight to see the little ones arrive and many eyes welled as the long line of march was organized and proceeded to the college. The weather was ideal, a more propitious day for such an outing could not have been selected and the several hundreds little hearts returned home that night surfeited with outing and picnic pastimes for one day, at least.

A CORRECTION.

Recently in publishing "Deaths From Hancock County for June," as supplied The Sea Coast Echo by the State Board of Health, a Jackson, the name of Louisa H. Johnson, who died in Bay St. Louis, was being in Carroll avenue, was listed under the head of "Black."

As is well known Mr. Jensen was of the Creole race. The error was that of the Board of Health, as the original copy on file with The Echo shows, but we hasten to make the correction in order that the facts in the matter might be published right, which is always the aim of every established and reputable newspaper.
